

Portrait of a China Spring Graduate

Effective Communicator

One who successfully uses a variety of communication skills such as listening, speaking, writing, reading, and technological presentations that are demanded by the complex and everchanging world.

Knowledge-Based Person

One who possesses basic skills in language, reading, math, science, history, and technology, along with cultural literacy and thinking skills.

Competent Problem Solver

One who possesses and applies higher level thinking skills, remains flexible, takes risks, and expresses a sense of creativity.

Self-Directed Lifelong Learner

One who is organized, self-disciplined, technologically competent, independent, reads for a variety of purposes and sets and achieves goals.

Responsible Citizen

One who is honest, intuitive, respectful to others, a cooperative team member, is self-disciplined while setting and achieving goals, and is capable of making healthy life-style choices.

Quality Worker

One who enters the workforce possessing the following characteristics: responsibility, self-discipline, cooperation, flexibility, resourcefulness, and willingness to show initiative.

Holistic Person

One who recognizes and appreciates the many cultural opportunities in fine arts and nature while possessing an altruistic philosophy toward society.

Portrait of a Graduate Team: Melissa Brewton, Miranda Brown, Paula Cawthon, Karen Griffin, Edna Harris, Rhonda Heckel, Paula Henningsen, Brandon Hyatt, George Kazanas, Jeanie Moore, Zack Myers, Annette Nemmer, Marilyn Souders, Ginger Yedinak, Cathy Williams (Adopted Spring, 2000)